

CCASS Adaptation All-Stars Event

Event speakers (from left to right): James Arnott, Aspen Global Change Institute; Kyle Bobiwash, University of Manitoba; Maria Carmen Lemos, University of Michigan; Nancy Grimm, Arizona State University; Jessica Hellmann, University of Minnesota; Christine Kirchoff, Penn State University; Meade Krosby, Northwest Climate Adaptation Science Center; Francisco Lara-Valencia, Arizona State University; Debora Ley, United Nations Economic Commission for Latin America and the Caribbean; Richard Moss, Princeton University; Kyle Whyte, University of Michigan.

Wednesday, February 26, 2025
4 – 5:15 pm | ENR2, room S225

Social Hour to immediately follow at Frog & Firkin from 5:30 – 7 pm.

Registration is required for one or both events.

Join the Center for Climate Adaptation Science and Solutions (CCASS) to hear from leading experts in climate change adaptation. This is a rare opportunity to meet with truly exceptional visionaries in their fields who represent a wide array of disciplines. The event will feature lightning talks during which speakers will briefly reflect on their work and the state of the adaptation field. There will be plenty of time for informal discussion and Q&A during the event and at the social hour afterward.